

NEWS RELEASE

Oct. 14, 2016
16-34
For immediate release

Quesnel Library to unveil local carving

Quesnel, B.C. – The Cariboo Regional District Library will be unveiling a carving by local carver, Mat Johnston, at the Quesnel Branch Library on Monday, Oct. 17 at 4 p.m.

Johnston donated his carving to the Quesnel Branch and it is now a feature piece in the library. The carving depicts an owl from the popular Harry Potter series and includes space to display books.

“After I carved this owl I thought it would be perfect sitting in the Quesnel Library. As both a teacher and a carver, I am happy to donate my work to encourage the love of reading in our community,” explains Johnston.

CRD Electoral Area A Director, Ted Armstrong, expresses his appreciation, “The artistry in this piece is incredible. On behalf of the Cariboo Regional District, I would like to thank Mat for donating such a wonderful carving to be featured in our library.”

For information about other upcoming events at the CRD’s Quesnel Branch Library, call 250-992-7912 or email quesnelib@cariboord.ca. You can also learn more online at cln.bc.ca.

-30-

Media are invited to attend the unveiling for pictures and interviews with the carver and Electoral Area Directors. Please RSVP to eepp@cariboord.ca.

Date: Monday, Oct. 17, 2016

Time: 4 p.m.

*Location: Quesnel Branch Library
101 - #410 Kinchant St.*

For further information:
Emily Epp, Manager of Communications
Cariboo Regional District
250-392-3351 or 1-800-665-1636
eepp@cariboord.ca